NEODEVICES SILICONE & POLYURETHANE FEEDING TUBES

NeoDevices has a full line of Polyurethane and Silicone Feeding Tubes designed for long-term OG/NG usage. Both the Polyurethane Feeding Tubes and the Silicone feeding tubes are FDA approved for long term usage and include a variety of hub connections.

One of NeoDevices unique designs includes a Universal Hub that maintains a secure connection with a variety of devices. It can be used with a luer slip or luer locking syringe and extension sets. Additionally, NeoDevices offers Enteral Only Hubs that are not compatible with any type of luer connections. These hubs comply with the JCAHO requirement - 2006 National Patient Safety Goals, the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation (AAMI), and the American National Standard for Enteral Feeding Set Adaptors and Connectors © 2000.

Our Enteral Only Hub, as part of the Enteral Safety System (ESS), is designed to connect only to oral syringes and oral adaptors. We have included two additional safety features on our Polyurethane Feeding Tubes, an orange radiopaque stripe that runs the entire length of the tubing, and depth marks which aid in the placement. NeoDevices is now able to provide the advantage of long term usage feeding tubes, with the same economical benefit of the short term products.
